- 12. PRODUCT PERFORMANCE INFORMATION: Any product performance information You may have received is based upon historical field observations and analysis of traits by Corteva Agronomists and Research Managers and may not predict future results. Hybrid and variety responses are variable and subject to any number of environmental, disease and pest pressures. Trait Scores are based upon period-of-years testing and may have changed since You made Your initial order. Before planting, refer to www.Corteva.com or contact a Corteva Sales Professional or agronomist for the then current listing of traits and scores for each product and for product placement and management suggestions specific to Your operation and local conditions, although You are ultimately responsible for product selection, purchasing, placement and management decisions for Your operation. Efficacy levels based on Corteva and/or independent university entomologist results against susceptible insect populations. Product responses can vary by location, pest population, environmental conditions, and agricultural practices. With certain pests, a decrease of susceptibility to certain technology traits in corn has been observed in some insect populations, which may result in lower efficacy. Please refer to the PUG for more information.

If You have not signed the TUA and/or an applicable TUA Addendum, then this document is not an offer or acceptance of an offer for sale of the products listed and any purported sale of such products is void. You also agree that information obtained or collected by Corteva may be shared with the EPA for Corteva to satisfy any legal, regulatory or other agency requirements and that Corteva may enter Your premises to respond to claims of unexpected damage and to collect insects for use in Corteva's IRM research or to comply with legal, regulatory or other agency requirements.

It may be unlawful to export, transfer or move crops and materials containing biotech traits and/or other regulated crops and materials across borders into jurisdictions where their import and use is not authorized. Products authorized in the United States may or may not be authorized in all global markets; therefore, the products including, without limitation, combinations of products and the grain and certain byproducts (including oil, dried distiller's grains, cobs and husks) from these products may not be authorized in some markets. For more detailed information on the status of a trait or stack, please visit www.biotradestatus.com. You further acknowledge and agree that any forward-looking statements made by Corteva related to regulatory approval timelines, by their nature, address matters that are, to different degrees, uncertain. These forward-looking statements of anticipated regulatory authorization timelines are not guaranties of government agency action and are based on certain assumptions and expectations of future events that may not be realized, and You agree not to rely on them in making decisions for Your operation including, without limitation, decisions regarding grain disposition.
