Robert King

Title: Executive Vice President, Crop Protection Business Unit

Professional Background

Robert King is Executive Vice President, Crop Protection Business Unit at Corteva Agriscience, a role he assumed in April 2022.

Robert is a highly experienced specialty chemicals and agriculture industry executive with experience leading teams in the U.S., Canada, China, and the U.K. and a long track record of leading transformational improvements growing shareholder value through operational excellence.

Prior to joining Corteva, Robert served most recently as Senior Vice President and Chief Integrated Supply Chain Officer at Nouryon, a private equity owned specialty chemicals company, where he spearheaded the global and cross-business integration of the company's supply chain. Before his time at Nouryon, he served as Vice President of Global Operations for PPG's industrial segment and Vice President of Global Supply Chain for Nutrien, where he was appointed to lead the centralization of the company's supply chain. Before this role, he served as a Regional Manager at Nutrien and as the Vice President of Nitrogen Operations and Services at Agrium in Canada before the company became Nutrien in 2018.

Robert started his career at Celanese, where he worked for nearly two decades and held management roles in the U.S., China, and the U.K.

Robert holds a Bachelor of Science in Chemical Engineering from Texas Tech University, an MBA from Texas Woman's University, and is also a Master Black Belt in Lean Six Sigma. He currently serves on the Board of Directors of the American Chemistry Council, on the Executive Committee of AgriNovus Indiana, and represents Corteva on the Indianapolis Chamber of Commerce. Further, Robert serves on the Dean's Council for Texas Tech University's College of Engineering.
